

DIPLOMA IN PROCESS ENGINEERING (PETROCHEMICAL)

SYNOPSIS

This program provides the students with the knowledge and technical skills prior to working as a process technician in the petroleum and petrochemical industries, which covers the areas of plant operating, equipment servicing, troubleshooting and problem solving. The approach includes theoretical knowledge as well as hands-on experience in workshops, mini training plant and laboratories.

JOB PROSPECT

Diploma in Process Engineering (Petrochemical) graduates will be able to seek employment in various fields or job sectors in both government and private sectors. Graduates of this programme will find greater employment or job opportunities in the fields of petroleum and petrochemical. Their job designation includes process technician, utility technician, lab technician and general technician. Based on their technical and planning skills, graduates of this programme can embark on entrepreneurial activities. In addition, they also have opportunities to further their studies at degree level at various institutions locally or abroad.